HARD FIGHT ON 'CEMENT TRUST' BILL LOOMS

Kellogg Pact Passed After 12 Day Debate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(U.P.)—The Kellogg anti-war treaty, without reservations and in exactly the form it was signed at Paris, was ratified by the senate today.

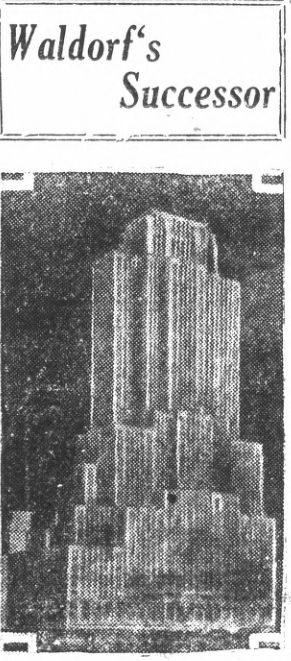

The vote was 85 to 1. Senator Blaine, Wisconsin republican, cast the only negative vote.

An announcement was made that seven of nine senators absent at the time of the roll call would have voted for ratification.

The two absent senators regarding whom no announcement were McLean, Connecticut Republican, an opponent of the treaty and Goff West Virginia Republican.

12 Days Debate
Ratification followed 12 days of intensive debate prolonged by demands of a determined group of senators that the interpretation placed upon the treaty by the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee.

ACTION WILL BE RUSHED, CARTER

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15.—(U.P.)—Support from the administration and many influential members of the California state legislature was being sought tonight for the resolution of Henry E. Carter, senator from Los Angeles, asking a legislative probe of the so-called "cement trust."

The debate on the resolution loomed tonight as one of the most bitterly fought battles of the present session, which will adjourn at three o'clock Friday afternoon. Carter expects to force action before Friday in order that the investigation may get underway during the third day constitutional recess.

"Must Be Broken"
"This combination must be broken at once," Carter said in an interview with the United Press tonight. "Not a day's delay will be tolerated as millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money is hanging in the balance."

The resolution calls for a state appropriation of $3000 to meet expenses of the probe and around the proposed appropriation the argument is expected to center.

Quick Action Seen
The bill is now in the hands of the senate committee on contingent expenses and as Carter is chairman of that committee every indication points that it will be sent back to the senate quickly with the recommendation that it "do pass."

Administration forces seemed to be getting behind the proposal promptly.

Plot Went Astray

"AWKWARD, wasn't it?" her husband remarked when he confronted Mrs. Grace Wood (above) of Detroit who is charged with having engineered a plot to kill him so that she could collect $100,000 insurance. One of the men who allegedly was hired to do the killing was slain by police when another of the group revealed the plot.

One Known Dead Six Burned In Double Blasts

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 15.—(U.P.)—Two explosions entombed more than a score of men in a shaft of the Continental Coal company at Rivesville, W. Va., late today, according to word received here.

One man was said to have been taken from the mine dead and six others were in hospitals suffering from dangerous burns, the reports available here tonight said.

Twenty-one of the miners, it was said, still were trapped in the shaft tonight.

Hope of rescuing the missing men was said to be slight, since fire was reported to have followed the blasts.

The body of the dead miner was brought to the surface by a rescue squad which descended after the first explosion. While they were seeking to aid the remainder of the entombed men, the second explosion occurred, the reports said.

Father, Son Dinner At First Christian

Father and sons' night was observed at the First Christian church last night by the Men's Fellowship club of the church giving a big dinner. There was a large crowd out, and in addition to the wonderful dinner served to the ladies, an entertainment program was put on, under the direction of the president, L. A. Winder.

The early part of the evening was taken up with community singing, led by Rev. Aldis Webb, pastor of the church.

Afterwards there was a vocal solo, "Sunny Boy" by Miss Madeline Turner, accompanied on the piano (Continued on Page 8)

Helen Wills Tells Troth To F. S. Moody

BERKELEY, Jan. 15.—Helen Wills, women's tennis champion, will be married to Frederick Shander Moody, Jr., of San Francisco, according to engagement notices mailed to friends of the bride-to-be.

For two years the tennis champion and her parents have been denying the engagement. It was first rumored about the Riviera when Helen was busy winning championships in 1926. It was denied by all concerned.

When Miss Wills returned to her home here in September after a success for four of Euro, she again denied her engagement and her mother was particularly decisive.

Moody is the son of Fred S. Moody, San Francisco capitalist and state highway commissioner, and Mrs. Moody, 3508 Clay street San Francisco. Miss Wills is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Wills, of Berkeley.

Bebe Daniels Will Wed Lyon, Report

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 15.—(U.P.)—The film colony was convinced tonight that Bebe Daniels, who reported engagements have kept it buzzing, is to marry Ben Lyon of the screen.

A formal announcement of the actress' engagement is expected to be made at a dinner party early next week by her mother.

Hollywood rumors that Bebe and Ben were friends for a long time and then suddenly fell in love. The courtship lasted just two months and now they are secretly engaged, it is said. The wedding is expected to take place soon.

Neither Miss Daniels nor Lyon has been married before.

But both have been reported engaged. Lyon's name was linked with that of Marilyn Miller, former wife of Jack Pickford, and Miss Daniels with that of Charley Paddock, the track star, and Jack Pickford.

Hercules Lead Thief Granted Probation

MARTINEZ, Jan. 15.—Convicted of grand larceny for participation in the theft of lead from the Hercules Powder company's Hercules plant, William Eberline, 27, of 1111 Alice street, Oakland, was today given three years probation by Superior Judge A. P. McKeezie.

Two companions, William McConnell, 37, and Wesley Falls, 27, both said to be ex-convicts, were sentenced to Folsom prison 10 days ago for participation in the thefts.

The three men were arrested Dec. 29 when they drove into an Oakland junk yard with the second of two loads of stolen metal. Eberline was granted probation when he established that he had not been previously involved in any crime.

Easley In New Fight For Tunnel Highway

According to press dispatches received from Sacramento yesterday, a bill has been introduced in the state legislature that would include the present tunnel road from Berkeley to Walnut Creek in the state highway system. Robert P. Easley, assemblyman from Antioch, presented the bill.

Easley told the body that chambers of commerce and other civic organizations of both Alameda and Contra Costa counties are unanimously in favor of a demand that the state take over the present county tunnel road.

"It is an essential link in the state highway, furnishing a short cut from the Eastbay district to the interior valleys, relieving the excess traffic on the Richmond and Dublin routes," Easley said.

Before pressing for action on the bill, Easley said that he would confer with the supervisors of Contra Costa county.

ROWS MARK BRIBE TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—(U.P.)—The closing plea made to the jury in the Julian Petroleum case by Asa Keyes, then district attorney, was introduced by the state today in its attempt to prove that Keyes conspired with others to free Julian defendants.

Chief Deputy District Attorney Robert Stewart took the witness stand and read the entire text of Keyes' final address, a plea which the state asserts was flavored by more than $165,000 Keyes allegedly received from Ed Rosenberg and Jacob Berman, charged with conspiracy to wreck this million dollar company.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—(U.P.)—Marshal Ferdinand Foch, fighting with all of his waning strength against a grave heart attack, continued to make slight improvement tonight and one physician expressed hope that the commander of Allied armies in the World War might recover.

The next three days, however, are expected to be the most critical in the battle, and so serious is the Marshal's condition that his doctors would not let a bulletin this evening, as previously planned. Dr. Henghoyone, one of the six physicians in attendance, will pass the night at Foch's bedside.

Oxygen Given
Dr. Daveniere, one of the attending doctors, said medicine had been administered to Marshal Foch to sustain his heart. It was found necessary to give the patient oxygen.

Arizona To Fight Boulder Dam Bill

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 15.—(U.P.)—Arizona Colorado river commission, immediate filing of suit in the United States Supreme Court to prevent enactment of the Stevens-Johnson bill and stop the proposed construction of Boulder Dam, was authorized by the Arizona legislature this afternoon by the Arizona Colorado river commission.

Mulford Winsor, secretary of the body, declared the suit will be filed immediately.

No announcement was made as to who will head the legal campaign to fight Arizona's case in high courts.

No Opposition To Rebuilding Of Dam

Following the favorable decision of the board of engineers named to investigate the feasibility of continuing with the construction of the Lafayette dam, construction opposition to the plan is lacking, according to Maj. M. M. Barrett, an officer of the Lafayette improvement club.

The report of the engineers urged that the present structure be lowered 40 feet, widened and strengthened and that the impounded area be only one-third of that originally intended by the East Bay Municipal Utility district.

Major Barrett declared that no opposition to the reconstruction on the basis outlined by the engineers has been met and that the opinion prevails that reducing the impounding area and building of a wider and longer dam will eliminate any hazard.

The engineers report will be discussed when the Lafayette improvement association meets Feb. 12, according to George S. Merideth, president of the association.

Following the collapse of the dam a mass meeting of the Lafayette and Saranap residents was held and a resolution adopted expressing confidence in the district directors. Some opposition to any plan for the continuing of construction of the dam in any form was expressed by some of the residents.

Library Sets Hours During Fire Repair

Until further notice the book lending department of the Richmond public library will be open from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m. according to an announcement made by Miss Norah McNeill, city librarian.

The children's department will open from 2:30 p. m. to 5 p. m. Work is being rushed on the repairs made necessary by the fire which caused more than $5000 worth of damage in the library Sunday morning.

The hours have been made necessary because the lighting system of the building will be handicapped during the repair work, Miss McNeill stated.

No lights of any kind are available in the reading rooms and only the "lending department" will remain open during the hours mentioned above until the repairs again permit full operation of all departments of the library.

WHAT THE TEST PROVED

An airplane dependent upon its motors for both sustentation in the air and forward progress can be kept in the air just as long as the machinery continues to work smoothly. That was shown by the Question Mark's notable achievement over southern California. The satisfaction of having broken some records and set up a few new ones is possessed by the nation and the crew and the next question to which aviation will turn its studies is "How can the discoveries be used."

The repair of a malfunction in the motor of a dirigible can be effected while in flight because the higher than air machine does not depend on its motive power for its altitude. The demonstration of the Question Mark will probably be most important in that it shows an airplane motor can be fixed while in flight. A practical application of the achievement might lie in the construction of pair-motored craft, wherein one set might be held in reserve. The possibility of taking fuel at the needed moments of the flight relieves the airplane of the present necessity of starting with a large initial fuel load. Part of that weight now could be used in spare motors, all rigged up to take the place of others that might grow cranky.

One outcome of the Question Mark's flight therefore should be the designing of four motored planes capable of carrying a pay load on two engines.

THE PROMOTER

The place George Rickard filled at the time of his death was built by himself. Throughout the ages, no one even an emperor in ancient Rome ever managed to provide pan et circenses for the mob out of their own pockets.

Mr. Rickard came up from Alaska and Nevada and created the position of sports promoter on a scale commensurate with all the other achievements of the so-called American civilization. He was the first and for some time he will be the last to draw a million dollars of public money to see one pair of boxers pursue their labor.

Naturally a man like that will be hard to replace. Smaller calibre showmen will develop and Madison Square Garden will continue to be the scene of events of the sporting and show worlds. But Cash and Carry Pyle, nor even Jack Dempsey can't promote quite as thoughtfully as the man who found out just how loose the purse strings could be made by grasping the psychological moment.

Without the enormous publicity which a willing press gave to his sport events, even Rickard could not have succeeded. On the other hand, the largess of special correspondents can hardly achieve such success for a littler promoter.

Channing Pollock, the playwright says he is disgusted with the "crass ignorance" of theater audiences. We must admit that as part of the audience we oftentimes felt a little "dumb" ourselves for having put up two or three dollars in real money to see some of the things which the playwrights have given us.

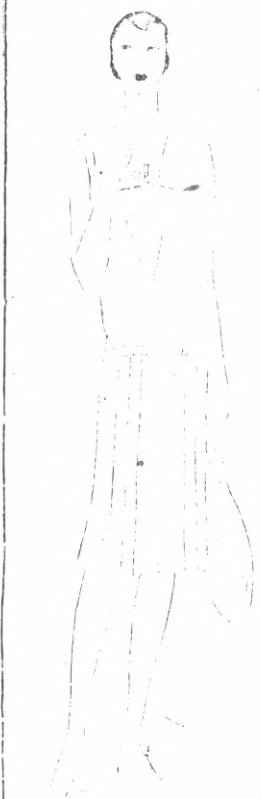

Well the world continues to improve. The old time drug store which, in some instances, sold bad liquor behind the prescription counter has been succeeded by the modern drug store which sells good coffee in front of it.

The Bureau of Standards at Washington has invented a machine which will divide an inch into millionths. This machine will be in great demand by cafeterias for slicing ham for sandwiches.

Chicago reformers are organizing to close the favor dives where drinks are sold to high school children. It might also be a good idea to look into the Chicago shooting galleries which have juvenile customers.

Don't forget your teeth. If you would be beautiful you cannot afford to neglect them. All sorts of annoying ailments have been traced to bad teeth and it behooves every one of us to pay regular visits to our dentist if we want to keep out of trouble. Of course the teeth should be brushed regularly after each meal and the gums massaged at least once a day to keep the mouth healthy and the teeth attractive. Going to your dentist at short intervals will enable him to correct small defects before they can cause serious difficulties. He will clean the teeth and keep them white and clear from discoloration. Some dentists advise the use of dental floss after meals to remove particles of food from between the teeth which, if lodged there too long will start decay.

My Dear Miss Lane: Do you think that the use of a brush to scrub the cheeks makes them rough and red? A friend of mine told me that that was the worst possible thing I could do if I wanted to keep my cheeks soft and smooth. What is your opinion? My skin is quite dry but not unusually so and I never have any particular trouble with chapped skin, etc. CORA.

The use of a brush won't do any harm if you follow the clean line with a massage with skin food to soften and whiten the skin. You would find it beneficial to soak the cheeks in warm olive oil once a week or more.

Yours for Style, JUDIE.

FIGHT IN CLOUDS ABOUT WITH THRILLS

The reproduction of war time air battles seen in "Libel Time," First National's special production with Colleen Moore and Gary Cooper, are to say the least, about as thrilling as one could desire, and yet the most thrilling part was not recorded by the camera—the part that the cameraman took himself.

Alvin Knechtel, the cameraman who photographed the remarkable effects shown in the film, may look at the finished product with pride, but he still bristles when he thinks of the narrow escape he had in accomplishing them.

Plate's Floor Removed

In order to shoot the fighting planes from all angles, Knechtel had the floor of the cockpit of his plane removed before taking off to follow the formation of fighting planes. The leader of the squadron had been instructed to find a spot in the heavens where there were light, fluffy clouds that would form a background. He spent an hour in search of them, but no clouds followed him, and so did the camera plane.

After several minutes, Knechtel looked down and noticed that they were a few thousand feet above the Pacific ocean. Knechtel knew that the air battle had to be fought over land and thought of taking his plane to catch up with the leader.

Perils of Cameraman

Imagine his embarrassment, when he noticed his pilot struggling with his parachute, which had become partly unfurled. "Help me with this thing before it opens and I'm no good," shouted the pilot. Knechtel, who had been liked to have helped him better than anything in the world but how could he? The door of the plane was gone, if Knechtel moved from his seat he was due for a long drop.

The pilot let go the stick and reached for the chute while the plane circled and tumbled madly. A few hundred feet from the water the pilot got his parachute out. Knechtel got his breath and they ascended in search of more clouds. Knechtel had lived a lifetime in four minutes.

Repression of youth—a problem old as the ages—but which appears to be pressing for solution today more than ever before, is the theme of the striking photo drama, "Stolen Love," now on view at the Richmond theatre.

Because her foster parents, who were her guardians were of that generation, and dominating school of domestic thought that was wrong, danger and unadaptable in the natural desire of growth.

On their side, the aunts feel they are doing not only their duty but extending loving care and protection to the girl. But when their ward escapes from that protection into the danger zone of a waiting world making a shocking picture.

The story is portrayed by a stellar cast headed by Marceline Day, Owen Moore, Rex Lease and Betty Blythe. It has been splendidly directed by Lyon Storer, who is declared to have lost none of the charm and appeal of the widely read Livingston story.

Concrete Piles Will Be Driven At Wharf Soon

The first of the concrete piles for the new Richmond inner harbor wharves will be driven early next week, according to an announcement made yesterday by Capt. J. W. B. Blackman of the San Francisco Piling and Construction company, contractors.

A special water derrick to handle the heavy piling will arrive the latter part of the week. One of the company's drivers is being set upon a barge in anticipation of the work.

Once the work is started, it is expected that the concrete piles will be driven in 30 days after which the sheet piling will be driven. After this work is completed, the floor shilling for the wharves proper will be laid.

Practically all of the wharfing plan for the building has been laid with work being ahead of schedule. Work on the superstructure will not be started in all probability before a couple of months.

Blackman stated yesterday that practically one-half of the piles for the wharf have been given the special treatment which impregnates them against weather and water.

KEYES ADDRESS READ DURING HEARING

The action of the state in introducing the Keyes jury plea of the Julian trial was distinct surprise and apparently was done to embarrass the defense which already had indicated its intention to use the plea.

Berman in his direct testimony maintained that Keyes first tried to get dismissals, and that failing, he then tried to get a mistrial, and that finally he decided to make acquittal certain for Berman and Rosenberg.

The state attempted cross examination to show through Berman that Keyes actually had asked conviction, a fact recorded by the plea.

"Eased Off"

Berman then answered that "Keyes could have crucified me but he eased off."

Berman's fourth day on the stand brought a repetition of preceding days. From early in the morning until late in the day he engaged in a series of hectic arguments which took in most of the many attorneys and, at times, the bench itself.

Just before he left the stand the state attempted to introduce through him evidence that the district attorney's office when it was Asa Keyes, withheld certain documents turned over to it by Berman and pertaining to this trial.

A defense objection to the line of questioning was upheld by Superior Judge Edward Butler.

Gruebling Test

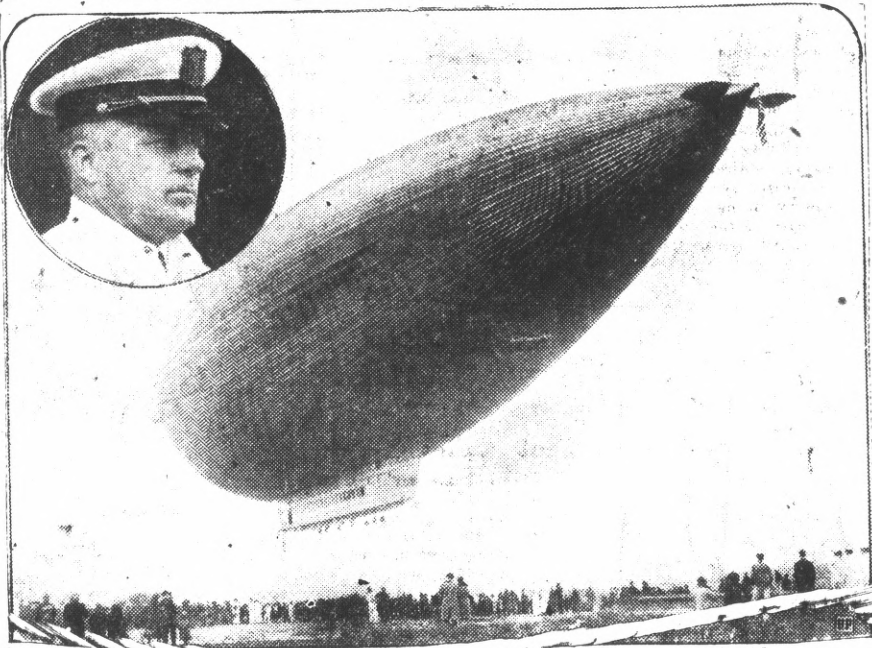

Berman underwent a most grueling cross examination from the entire group of defense attorneys, including Keyes, acting in person, but through it all his testimony apparently was not seriously impaired.

He parried defense traps skillfully and several times when almost trapped seemed about to reveal information which neither the state nor defense wanted to hear.

His most startling claims were that he paid more than $10,000 in cash to Ben Getzoff and that he believed Getzoff in turn paid it to Keyes and that he knew Rosenberg paid $125,000 in the same manner and that his attorney's fees in the various Julian cases totaled $150,000.

Louis Berman, brother of Jacob, probably will be the next state witness.

ANTI-WAR PACT WINS SENATE APPROVAL

tee he made public before a vote was taken.

Chairman Borah, of the committee, at first refused to submit his committee's resolution but late today reached a compromise with the so-called Reservationists and inserted the report in the Congressional Record.

With the exception of Soviet Russia, the United States becomes the first world power to make the significant gesture toward international peace by sanctioning the treaty.

Russia, a government not recognized by this country but a signer of the Kellogg treaty, ratified the pact some weeks ago.

The treaty conceived by Briand of France and later brought to a successful conclusion by Secretary of State Kellogg with the signatures of practically every nation of the world is regarded by many as the most significant movement towards peace on earth since the beginning of history. President Coolidge characterized it as the most important measure before the Senate during his administration.

War Condemned

The treaty is divided into two parts. The first condemns war and the second pledges nations not to resort to war.

A few minutes before actual ratification by the senate, Borah submitted the committee report which gave its interpretation to the treaty. However, the chairman had tacked on a clause which said:

"This report is made solely for the purpose of putting on record what your committee understands to be the true interpretation of the treaty and not in any sense for the purpose of, with the design of modifying or changing the treaty in any way or effectuating a reservation or reservations to the same."

The committee interpreted the treaty as in no way affecting the Monroe Doctrine, "which the United States regards as a part of its national security and defense."

Follow Leader

Senators Johnson, California Republican, and Glass, Virginia Democrat, declared the pact meant absolutely nothing and the latter said: "I'll be as simple as the rest of you and follow along."

Then Senator Borah arose. He had steered the treaty through the many pitfalls in the senate. He was prepared to make his last defense of the pact. With all the fire and vigor of a man fighting for a principle, he held the senate spellbound.

"Why should this treaty be considered impractical and beyond our power to attain?" he demanded. "Is the honor and good faith of nations less binding in this treaty than in others?"

Honor of Nations

"There is nothing behind this treaty or any treaty save the honor and the faith of the nations signing. The same honor, obligation and the same good faith are behind an agreement not to go to war as there is behind an agreement to go to war."

The so-called Reservationists in the Senate, prominent among whom were Reed, Missouri Democrat; Bingham, Connecticut Republican; and Moses, New Hampshire Republican, although voting for ratification won their point against Borah and Secretary Kellogg when they forced the committee report in the open.

The Secretary of State opposed publication of the report on the grounds that it might be regarded in foreign countries as an official government interpretation or as a reservation to the treaty.

amination in a manner satisfactory to him, he would withdraw from the case.

"I've taken a three years extension course from the University of Southern California and I think I'm more qualified to handle the questioning than Savay, and that's what I intend to do," Northcott told the United Press correspondent.

Bruises Shown

The asserted slayer's decision to take charge of the case was announced just after young Clark had concluded his testimony by stripping to the waist and displaying bruises and burns which he said Northcott inflicted on the alleged "murder farm."

Clark testified that Lewis Winslow, of Pomona, one of the three boys for whose death Northcott is on trial, was still alive when he was buried in the farm chicken coop.

"He was still making a noise when we buried him," the 16 year old witness said.

Tells of Staying

Sanford told of the ax slaying of the Winslow brothers, Lewis and Nelson. He said that Nelson was taken to the hen-house first and that he was forced to talk to him while Stewart beat him with an ax.

Then, he declared, Northcott made him strike a few blows. After Nelson had been placed in the grave dug in the coop, Lewis was beheaded. This time, he said, Northcott made him strike the victim first.

As they covered the bodies in the grave with straw "Lewis was making a noise" Sanford testified. As soon as the excavation was covered chickens were turned into the pen and bloody soil was put in a wheelbarrow and carried some distance down a road, according to Northcott's nephew.

To Conceal Abuse

The boys, he repeated, were killed to conceal abuse to which they were subjected.

Sanford testified that he had dug two other graves on the farm. One for Walter Collins and one for Mr. and Mrs. Dahl of Los Angeles.

Northcott decided not to kill the Dahls, who came to the farm with his mother, Mrs. Louisa Northcott, because he decided he could not "get away with it," Sanford explained.

Northcott will be tried on Feb. 7 for the murder of Walter Collins.

Uncle Implicated

Sanford connected his uncle with the slaying of the Mexican whose headless body was found near Puente and with whose death Northcott is accused in the present trial.

"Stewart told me he killed him and left the body near Puente," the nephew said. "I spent from noon to evening burning the clothes in a huge bonfire near the duck pond on the farm."

When young Clark concluded his testimony and cross-examination was postponed until Wednesday, other state witnesses were called.

STANDARD OIL ROW STARTS ON CURB

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(U.P.)—Rockefeller and Stewart interests in the great Standard Oil system opened a dramatic fight on the curb exchange today for control of the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

On the outcome of the fight depends whether Col. Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Indiana corporation, is to be ousted at the meeting of shareholders at Whiting, Ind., March 1.

Stewart in Oil Scandal

Stewart was involved in one phase of the Teapot Dome Oil scandal. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., holds that this has caused a loss of public confidence in the Indiana company, and insists that Stewart resign. Stewart promises a finish fight. That fight was brought into the open in today's curb market trading.

Indiana stock closed this afternoon 7-8 points above its closing price of yesterday. This represents a gain of about $55,000,000 in value on the 9,231,510 shares of the company's stock.

Altogether $4,000 shares exchanged ownership during the day. At one time, the trading price was 29 3/4. The day's low was 28, the close 27. The day's business in the stock, at an average price of $95, was about $7,880,000.

Only Opening Guns

This is regarded in Wall Street as only the opening of the fight. If Stewart is re-elected chairman at the Indiana March meeting, it is expected the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, the parent body, will begin an invasion of Indiana's markets. It is held that Indiana already has invaded fields of other Standard companies in its expansion program.

These are several factors in the fight. Stewart has the support of the board of directors, according to militant statements issued during the week. An important angle is the attitude to be taken by the Indiana company's own employee-stockholders. Their situation is a difficult one. Both Rockefeller and Stewart seek their proxies for the stockholders' meeting. If they vote for Stewart and he is defeated, or if they vote for Rockefeller's candidate and Rockefeller loses—one can visualize without difficulty their predicament.

Mergers Rumored

The fight is bringing out rumors of possible mergers. One links Standard of Ohio, Ohio Oil, Solar Refining and Standard of Kentucky.

The latest of the bitter exchanges between Rockefeller and Stewart interests came today with a statement from Thomas M. Debevoise, one of Rockefeller's associates, who claims that during the Teapot Dome investigation at Washington, Stewart promised to resign if Rockefeller advised him to.

Rockefeller after Stewart had testified at a senate hearing, did request Stewart to resign. Stewart declined. He said that Rockefeller's request was that he resign if the stockholders thought he ought to, and that Rockefeller is not in position—unless he can summon a majority of proxies, to speak for all the stockholders.

Stewart Cleared

Debevoise says that Stewart told him personally he would resign at Rockefeller's request if his connection with the Continental Trading company bond exchange in the Teapot case made his continuance as chairman of the board inadvisable. Stewart holds that he was cleared completely of charges that he committed perjury at a senate hearing regarding the bond deal.

Rockefeller interests hold that he lied at which charges against him were dismissed did not clear him but that the dismissal was on a technicality.

FLEET MOVES FOR ANNUAL 'BATTLE'

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 15.—(U.P.)—The Pacific battle fleet sailed today for two months' maneuvers off the Panama canal, where it will engage the Atlantic fleet, in mock war on water and in the air.

With the airplane carrier Lexington, last year's war craft that led the way the group steamed south to San Diego. Directly behind were the California, flagship of Admiral William H. Pratt, and the battleline of eight other super dreadnaughts.

Various other craft started south within the past few days. The airplane carrier Saratoga which is undergoing repairs will join the fleet later.

Off San Diego the fleet picked up the 36 units destroyer division, three submarine divisions and the aircraft carrier Langley.

San Pedro was a rather lonely place tonight with 15,000 sailors at sea. They will return here March 23.

Sewer Problem To Be Studied

The St. George Sanitary Board is preparing and discussing plans for improvements of the outfall sewer mains of the district. The board is awaiting a report by Ross Calfee, engineer for the district.

There are two main outfall sewers emptying into the bay off the annex at the present, one entering the Richmond inner harbor, where it will eventually become a menace, it is believed, when the harbor project is completed.

It is being planned to connect this outlet with one emptying into the bay at the county line and to carry the main further out into the bay.

WIFE MAY QUIT $3,000,000 SUIT

RENO, Nev., Jan. 15.—(U.P.)—Action to nullify a separation that would cost Clifford V. Brokaw, eastern capitalist, more than $3,000,000 was anticipated here tonight when it was learned that Mrs. Nannie human Brokaw, New York society woman, only wishes $100,000.

Mrs. Brokaw, who was granted a separation from her husband by decree of Judge Ballard at Carson City Jan. 5, has told friends she only desires enough financial aid to protect her against a "rainy day."

Predictions were prevalent here that Mrs. Brokaw would ask the Nevada supreme court to have the decree for $3,000,000 voided and it was intimated the state bar association may appeal for such action if she does not.

Judge Ballard ordered a division of the Brokaw property to give her $1,000,000 on right, $500,000 in trust for life, the family home at Glendale, valued at $700,000 and a provision for a $1,000,000 trust fund for a son in event of the father's death.

LOWELL WINS OVER HIGH QUINTETS

The Richmond high school basketball teams were wiped out in their games with the Lowell high school teams yesterday afternoon in the high school gymnasium.

In the B game the result was 20 to 11 in favor of Lowell. In the varsity game the score was 24 to 16 for the Lowell boys.

Richmond played hard in both games but Lowell's speed and shooting accuracy brought home the bacon for their school. Lowell players are easily the best players that Richmond has met this year.

The steady playing that won both Richmond teams their games in the Hayward contest last Friday could not stand the spectacular shooting and offense of the Lowellites.

Richmond has a number of games this spring and it is generally believed that they will surpass last year's standard, judging from today's games.

Richmond's starting lineups were:

VARSITY GAME
Pase, Hall, forward; Gordon, center; Weeks and O'Connell, guards.

B GAME
Marcus, Linstead, forward; Myers, center; Regalia and Dalton, guards.

Card Quintet Wins Victory Over Broncos

PALO ALTO, Jan. 15.—UP.—Although at one time it was trailing on the short end of a 23 to 9 score, Stanford's basketball team defeated Santa Clara 28 to 27, here tonight.

The Broncos had been well ahead at the end of the half when the score was 13 to 8, and started the second period by making ten points to one for the Cardinals. Then the Stanford rally started.

Berg and Fawcett of Stanford shot baskets that gave their team the lead over Santa Clara and Hawkins added another so no damage was caused from a shot by Connolly of Santa Clara as the game ended.

Connolly was high scorer with 12 points and Fawcett was second with 10.

KID YOUTH MEETS A SET UP

Jack's Tribute

HUGE FLORAL tribute from Jack Dempsey to his friend, the late Tex Rickard. This impressive floral piece decorated the dead sport king's $15,000 casket as it lay in state in the Madison Square garden.

RICKARD TOOK MANY LONG CHANCES IN PROMOTING FIRST BOUTS OF CAREER

This story is based upon facts obtained by Kirksey up to the time of Rickard's illness, and on information gathered from many parts of the country and men and women who knew Rickard from boyhood, including his 81-year-old mother in Seattle, who contributed largely to the first chapter.

The story is copyrighted by the United Press Association. By GEORGE KIRKSEY CHAPTER I

"I always took a chance," Tex Rickard said one time discussing his checkered career. This was true not only of his boxing promotion, but of his business ventures as well. It was known by almost everyone along Broadway that Tex was a "sucker" for get-rich-quick schemes, inventions and wild gambles.

The chances he took in staging his first two boxing matches, the Gans-Nelson bout at Goldfield in 1906 and the Johnson-Jeffries bout at Reno in 1910 were nothing as compared to some of the risks he took in later life.

Quits Again

With the success of promotion of the Johnson-Jeffries bout, it would have seemed that Rickard was definitely launched on his career as a boxing promoter. Rickard, however, chose another field, was absent from the fight game for more than five years from 1910 to 1916.

After the Johnson-Jeffries fight Rickard was severely criticized for promoting a heavyweight championship bout between a white man and a Negro. It is understood that Rickard took this to heart and vowed never again to promote a mixed bout. For the championship and he never broke his vow. Rickard's stand on mixed heavyweight title bouts enabled Gene Tunney to get his chance at Jack Dempsey and win the championship. Rickard selected Philadelphia over New York as the site for the first Dempsey-Tunney bout rather than accede to the demands of the New York State Athletic Commission and match Harry Wills, the negro challenger in the place of Tunney.

Another Long Shot
About a year after the Johnson-Jeffries fight, Rickard took another one of his long shots. He signed a contract with a syndicate of French and English capitalists to go to South America as the general manager of the Paraguay Land and Cattle Co. It ended with Rickard in possession of a lot of land and no cash.

The company controlled 5,000 acres of land in the Chaco country with 100,000 head of cattle on it. The scheme was to erect a giant meat treating and chilling plant in the desert country and ship meat to markets all over the world. By turning the profits would have been doubled with cattle bringing from $50 to $60 a head instead of $25 to $30 a head.

In War Zone

Rickard acquired title to 327,000 acres of his own in this region and retained it until his death. He held onto it in the belief that some day it would be worth a fortune to him. The land is located in the territory about which the recent Bolivia Paraguay controversy centered. Shortly before his death, Rickard recalled one time when the Bolivian army refused to allow him to cross the border line between those two countries.

He returned to the United States in 1916 and promoted his third fight and entered the boxing game for good. Jess Willard, the Kansas cowboy had wrestled the heavyweight championship from Jack Johnson at Havana in 1915 and New York was clamoring for a chance to see the white champion in action.

Loan From Bank
As in the case of his first bouts Rickard had again to obtain financial backing to go through with the bout. The story was told that he went into a banker's office without preparation and put up such a good front that the banker advanced him $20,000 on his word. Samuel McCracken also aided Rickard financially.

Frank Moran was selected as the challenger and Rickard signed him first for a guarantee of $15,000. Willard signed for a guarantee of $30,000. Rickard rented the old Madison Square Garden and held the bout there. The match attracted a gate of $150,000, a new indoor record.

CAGE TROPHIES GIVEN HI-Y PLAYERS

Basketball trophies were presented to the members of the Hi-Y quintet, winners of the Junior Boys league, during the Fathers and Sons dinner in the Y. M. C. A. last night. The event was well attended.

Rev. A. A. Pratt, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was speaker of the evening. Bob Peters, president of the study body of Richmond Union high school and an active member of the Hi-Y club spoke in behalf of the boys. His topic was "What A Boy Owes to His Dad." The response was delivered by D. W. Albert. Merle Black led communally singing and entertained with readings and solos.

The trophies were presented by W. L. "Doc" Seawright, city recreational director. Those receiving awards were Lawrence Theis, Paul Potts, Leslie Ferguson, Angelo Petese, William Black, Lester Eby, Don Seawright and Charles Molanni.

Members of the Hi-Y club composing the committee in charge of the dinner were Charles Molanni, Jack Carr, Schyler Albert, Don Seawright and Woodrow Snodgrass.

'Daddies' To Be Selected For War Orphans

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—California American Legion members are to be named as "daddies" for wards of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau.

Each post of the American Legion will designate a number of "daddies" to contact each ward living under proper conditions, that the government funds for their support are being reared in accordance with the principles of good citizenship.

Authorization of all regional attorneys of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau to co-operate with the American Legion in connection with the appointment of "Legion Daddies" to insure personal supervision of the welfare of all minor wards of the bureau, has just been issued by Director Frank T. Hines, according to word received by State Adjutant James K. Fisk of the Legion.

The instructions issued to the regional attorneys emphasize the fact that the care to be given these wards by the American Legion "daddies" does not in any way lessen the obligations or responsibilities of the regional attorneys toward these minor beneficiaries, but is merely additional personal care for which the laws governing the functions and operations of the bureau make no provision.

Coast Cue Title Won By Jordan

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—(UP)—Charles Jordan of Los Angeles won the Pacific three cushion billiard championship and the right to compete in the national tournament at Buffalo, N. Y., by defeating Louis Floaten, San Francisco, 50 to 41 in 85 innings here tonight.

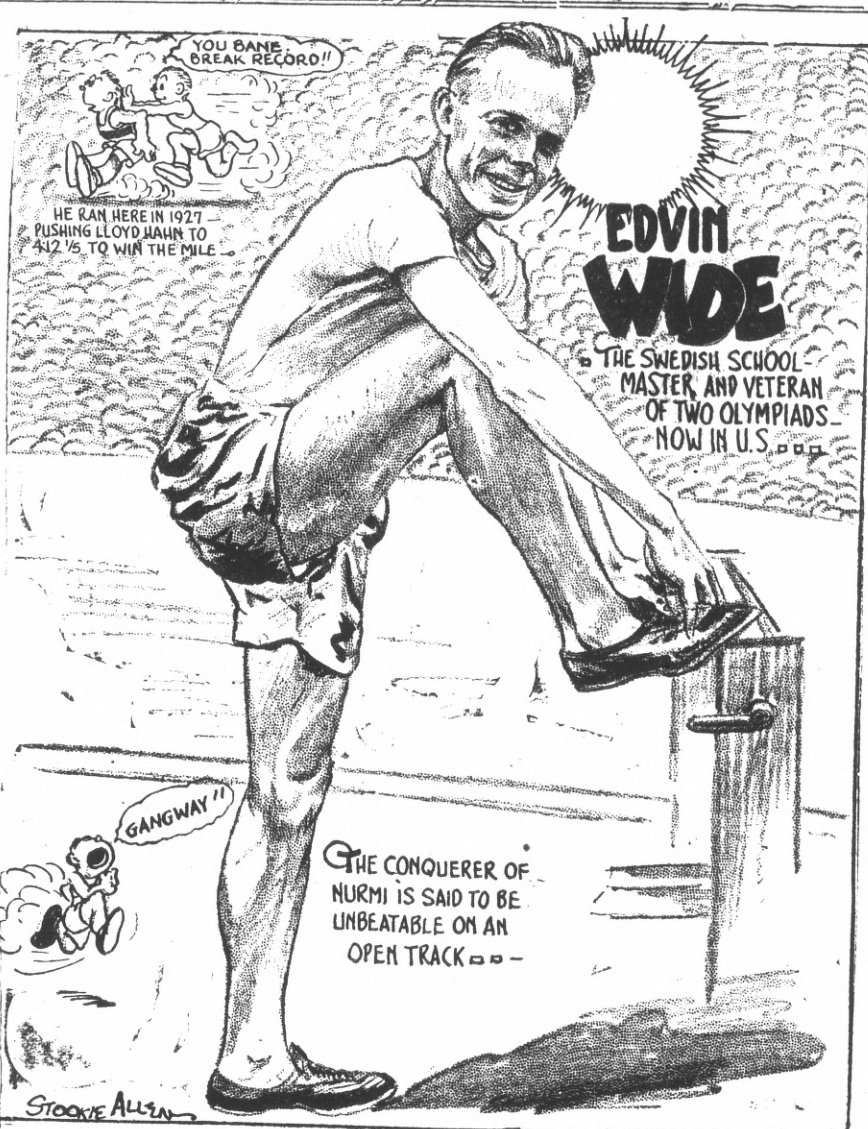

Willard retained his title, but the bout was only significant in that it embarked Rickard upon his career as a promoter in New York City. It was probably the worst heavyweight title bout ever held.

For Better or Worse
Rickard now made up his mind to remain in the fight game for better or worse. Up until this time he could not be termed a bona fide boxing promoter as he promoted only three bouts in ten years from 1906 to 1916.

"I began to think everybody in the world was a crook," Rickard said in recalling those days. Politicians came out openly and demanded their "cuts" on every fight. The complimentary list ran into thousands. Gamblers got jobs as ushers and insulted the customers. Every underhand method known was used to put him out of business.

In the end Rickard won out; the old Garden became a paying proposition instead of a white elephant and Rickard was established in New York City. Tomorrow's chapter will tell how Rickard first met Dempsey and of the Willary Dempsey fight.

BIG LEAGUES AID LEGION BASEBALL

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—Official notification that the National and American baseball leagues again have appropriated $50,000 to underwrite the expenses of the American Legion's national junior baseball competition in 1929 has been received by State Commander F. N. Belgrano, Jr. of the war veteran's organization.

Last year the Montgomery-Ward boys team of Oakland won the championship of the United States in the first tourney held under the American Legion's auspices.

Nationwide Interest
Last year 122,000 boys throughout the nation competed in the Legion's national baseball series and it is predicted by Judge Howard Bacon of Oakland, State Legion commissioner of baseball, that even a larger number will be enrolled in the various teams during the coming summer months. The teams will be made up of boys under seventeen years of age.

In addition to the cooperation of the big leagues, assurances of the support for the boy baseball program have come from the minor leagues which aided the activity very materially in their territories last year. Commander Belgrano stated. By giving the use of their parks to the boys for important games and tournaments, supplying umpires, grounds personnel, equipment and other aids, the minor league clubs were an important factor in making the competition a complete success. Assurances have also come from civic organizations, business firms and individuals who supported the movement last year that they will work with the Legion for boy baseball again in the 1929 season.

Plans For 1929
Definite plans for the 1929 competition are already being made, Commander Belgrano announced. Virtually all of the Legion's 10,000 posts located in the cities and towns throughout the country, are expected to sponsor one or more junior baseball teams. City or county champions will first be decided and these local champions will then play off by districts for the state championship. The state champions will be brought together in twelve regional tournaments six in the east and six in the west. The regional winners will play in two sectional tournaments to decide the teams which will represent the east and the west in the junior world series. The world title now rests in the west, being held by the Oakland Juniors, who defeated the Worcester Mass. Juniors in the 1929 world series.

The total number of public telephone pay stations in England on March 30, 1928, was 24,540 according to the British Postmaster General.

For the year 1928 the average number of telephone conversations completed daily in the United States was about 75,000,000.

FISH LADDERS IN STATE LAKES INSTALLED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—Fish will have no difficulty in going into Upper and Lower Twin lakes in Mono county when the spawning season starts in the spring. Jack Spencer, head of the Hydraulic Bureau of the division of Fish and Game, reports, following an inspection of two fish ladders recently completed there.

The ladders are located 12 miles from Bridgeport, and were built as a result of a hearing and a number of conferences, and through the cooperative efforts of a number of persons in that vicinity who are served with water for irrigation purposes. Spencer reports that the ladders are well constructed and there seems to be no doubt in his mind that the fish will be handled without difficulty. He also explained that considerable improvements on the reservoir six miles from the California-Nevada line have been made, and that these would be of great benefit to migrating fish.

Water is taken here for irrigation purposes from California into the state of Nevada.

The spirit of cooperation shown in the building of the fish ladders and in the reservoir improvements indicate that the people of this section are fully in sympathy with the Fish and Game division's program to conserve and protect fish. Spencer recites in his report of the conditions in Mono county to Eugene D. Bennett executive officer and attorney for the division.

Dempsey Starts Training; Move Kept A Secret

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 15.—UP.—Jack Dempsey indicated tonight that he would begin light training here within two weeks but he would not say whether he would return to the ring.

Dempsey appears to the layman to be in excellent physical condition, and his weight is only about 12 pounds in excess of his best fighting weight.

QUINTETS FROM CROCKETT IN VICTORIES

The Community Center club Crockett made a clean sweep of its two basketball games with the Montgomery Ward teams of Oakland recently in the club gym. More than 200 spectators filled the stands to watch the games which have been an annual event for many years.

In the first game between the boys teams, won by the Community Center club 34-14, Beck, recently of Phillips University of Enid, Okla., was high point man for the club with five field goals and two free throws, making a total of 12 points. Capt. Joe Martin of the Sugar Town team accounted for eleven points. High man for the Montgomery Ward team was Hamilton with two field goals and three free throws to his credit before he was removed from the game for committing four personal fouls in the second half. Up to the present time the club undefeated team has won 7 out of the 10 games played.

The club girls team won the second game by the score of 21 to 19, which makes the third straight game won by the girls during the present season. Carrier of the club team and Johnson of Montgomery Ward team were high point players with 13 to their credit. The scores for the individual games follow:

CEMENT PROBE BILL FIGHT LOOMS

spokesman for Gov. C. C. Young in the matter told the correspondents tonight:

"The state of California welcomes any action that will serve to bring about lower cement prices. There is no doubt that prices are higher than they should be and this department has viewed with alarm the marked similarity in cement bids offered in the past for state building construction which indicated there is a collusion somewhere.

"The proposal that the state itself enter the cement business, leasing a mine and operating a plant for state building and highway work has been widely discussed and by no means has been abandoned.

"The matter seems feasible but we will wait until we learn developments of the forthcoming probe."

New Angle
Senator Carter was working on a brand new angle to the "cement trust" fight.

He expects to determine whether cement can be classed as a public utility and the fixing of its rates could be placed in control of the state railroad commission. If such a thing is possible, Carter will introduce a bill upon after the opening of the second half of the legislature on Feb. 18, to place cement under that category.

"I started this with my eyes open," he commented. "And now I'm in it until the finish."

Carter said he had lined up some powerful support for the resolution in both houses of the legislature and has every assurance that it will receive favorable consideration from a majority when it reaches the floor for a vote.

The California trade mark bill, which proposes a new state division of market exchange under the department of finance, that will administer trade marks on all California products being labeled, will probably be offered in both houses Wednesday.

The features of the afternoon session today was a bill introduced by Roy Fellom, senator from San Francisco defining the convictions under which a person could be sentenced to life imprisonment under the habitual criminal law, adopted at the last session. Statutory offenses: murder, arson, assault with intent to kill and train wrecking were included in the writ.

Two bills, one proposing that all persons should be permanently registered unless they fail to vote in a general election or change residence, and the other asking that the Huntington Art gallery be exempt from taxation were introduced.

A $200,000 appropriation for survey of a bridge across Golden Gate at the entrance of San Francisco bay would be available under the proposal of Thomas McCormack, senator from Rio Vista.

The campaign to save California beaches from oil drilling projects gained a step when the assembly passed a bill temporarily prohibiting further drilling. However, it will probably be reconsidered tomorrow.

'Auto Association To Name Officers At Meet Thursday

Officers of the California State Automobile association for 1929 will be elected at the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the motorists' organization to be held Thursday. Management of the affairs of the association, which now has a membership in excess of 81,000 automobile owners, is vested in a board of twenty-one directors, civic leaders representing all sections who are elected by the membership and serve without compensation. It is the largest of the 1925 motoring organization affiliated with the American Automobile association.

Seven members of the directorate, who were recently elected for new three year terms, will be inducted into office at the meeting Thursday. They are: George S. Fordner, San Francisco; Frank A. Cressey, Jr., Modesto; Percy E. Towne, San Francisco; John R. Graham, Merced; Irving H. Kahn, San Francisco; Francis Carr, Redding; and Thomas W. Hine, Eureka.

This was followed by a violin solo by Miss Adele Mansfield, with a piano obligato by Miss Evelyn Helvard.

Each father present had a son present, and great delight was taken by the fathers in introducing their boys.

President Widner thanked the newspapers of the city for the publicity that had been given the club during the past year, and said everything asked for had been cheerfully given.

The editors of the newspapers had been invited to be the guests of the evening. G. E. Milnes, editor of the Record-Herald was present and made a short talk on the invitation of the president.

House Committee Favors S. P. Span

According to press reports received from Washington yesterday, a subcommittee on house military affairs in the United States Congress reported favorably upon a Senate bill authorizing the Southern Pacific company to cross the Benicia arsenal in connection with their $12,000,000 Carquinez Straits bridge project.

The Southern Pacific plans to build the bridge from Army Point on the north shore to Sutcliffe Point on the south. The bridge, which will do away with the train ferry at that point, will be 5,597 feet in length.
